About Me

Hello

My name is Sidra Nawaz.

I am from the United Kingdom. When I was younger, I wanted to be an Interior Designer because I liked to rearrange furniture & I started to notice what I could bring in to the interior space before I knew what Interior Designing & to be an Interior Designer meant.

Having a learning disability known as dyslexia hasn't stopped me from gaining knowledge & developing myself further to better myself, through life.

As I got older, my creative side did too, steering me on a different path, into Film Postproduction, Motion, then Design & Illustration. My want to become an Interior Designer also stayed & to ascertain about this world kept growing stronger.

With the hunger of Interior Designing in mind, I discovered a place where I could hone my knowledge & develop skills from this world to open opportunities for myself.

A place to teach the foundations of Interior Design & what it looks like to be an Interior Designer.

TRIADIC PAINT & WALLPAPER SCHEME

Brings Charachter

in to the interior space, to breathe.

Clear tones such as White colour, will help the interior space when natural light is introduced, in to the space.

The chosen colours will equally balance and harmonise eachother, complementing tones of eachother.

The chosen colour scheme brings a sense of stability and do not overpower nor overwhelm one another.

Whilst working together positively with eachother, they bring a sense of calm and gives an identity to each space.
